WELCOME

I Two Skies, Side by Side

Dear Lucas and Sanne, this report sets two skies side by side: the sky over Groningen when Lucas arrived, and the sky over Rotterdam when Sanne did. Lucas carries a Pisces Sun and an Aquarius Moon; Sanne carries a Leo Sun and an Aquarius Moon. Where the planets of one chart meet the planets of the other, astrologers read the themes of a relationship: what feels easy, what asks for patience, and what the two of you might build.

Your charts make 28 notable contacts with each other. That number is not a score, and nothing here decides whether a connection works; people do that. Read these pages together if you can, as a conversation starter rather than a verdict, whether you are partners, friends or family.

FLOWING CONTACTS	CHALLENGING CONTACTS	CONJUNCTIONS

A contact is an angle between a planet in one chart and a planet in the other. Flowing contacts (trines and sextiles) tend to feel easy; challenging ones (squares and oppositions) bring friction that can also be motivating; conjunctions fuse two energies, for better and for more intense. These counts describe the texture of your connection. They are not a score, and more of one kind is not "better".

Suns Five Signs Apart: A Translation Needed

Your Suns are five signs apart, a quincunx-like relationship that shares neither element nor modality. What drives one of you may seem slightly baffling to the other, and well-meant gestures can miss their mark. It is not a clash so much as a mismatch of language. With patience, it becomes one of the more interesting combinations, because each of you must genuinely learn the other. Try asking 'what would feel like support to you right now?' instead of guessing.

Moons in the Same Sign: The Same Comfort

Your Moons share a sign, so you look for comfort in much the same way. You likely understand each other's moods, rhythms and small needs without having to spell them out, which can make time together feel restful and familiar. The catch is that you may also share emotional blind spots, or both withdraw at exactly the same moment. When one of you is low, let the other step slightly outside your shared pattern and offer a different kind of comfort.

Rising Three Signs Apart: Different Ways in

Your Rising signs are three apart, so you approach new situations with similar drive but different styles. One may charge in while the other observes, or one charms while the other gets straight to business. First impressions may have involved some friction or misreading. That contrast can make you an effective team once you stop judging each other's approach. Before your next shared event, agree who opens and who closes.

Fire and Earth: The Spark and the Hearth

Sanne leans toward fire: quick, eager, drawn to what is new. Lucas leans toward earth: patient, practical, interested in what will still be standing next year. At first glance you run at different speeds, and that can be exactly the attraction. Sanne wakes Lucas up to possibility; Lucas gives Sanne's enthusiasm somewhere solid to land.

The friction tends to be about timing. Sanne may feel held back by Lucas's need to plan, while Lucas may feel rushed or worn out by Sanne's constant forward motion. Both are protecting something real: momentum on one side, security on the other. Try pairing your strengths on one concrete goal. Let Sanne set the ambition and the start date, let Lucas draw up the steps, and check in together at the halfway mark.

Fixed and Fixed: The Immovable Pair

Both of you lean fixed, so loyalty, persistence and consistency are strengths you share. Lucas and Sanne tend to commit fully, keep going when others quit and value a bond that does not wobble. Whatever you decide to build, you are likely to finish it.

The same quality makes disagreements stubborn. When two fixed people dig in, neither wants to be the first to move, and a minor issue can harden into a long stalemate. Make flexibility a shared practice rather than a defeat: agree that whoever gives ground first on a disagreement gets to choose the next weekend plan.

BETWEEN YOUR CHARTS

VI Your Key Contacts

Lucas's Mars square Sanne's Venus

♂ □ ♀ ORB 0.6°

Venus and Mars: Heat and Friction ● FRICTION

Sanne's Venus and Lucas's Mars meet at a tense angle, and the result is often a strong pull mixed with small sparks of irritation. Lucas's way of pushing forward can feel blunt to Sanne, while Sanne's wish for grace and harmony may strike Lucas as slow or hesitant. You can be drawn to exactly the quality in each other that occasionally rubs you the wrong way.

That tension carries real energy, and handled kindly it keeps things lively rather than stale. When a disagreement heats up, try naming what each of you actually wants in a single sentence before anyone argues for how to get it. Often the goal is shared; only the tempo differs.

Lucas's Moon trine Sanne's Venus

☽ △ ♀ ORB 3.8°

Moon and Venus: A Soft Landing ● FLOW

Lucas's emotional needs and Sanne's style of affection fit comfortably. Sanne tends to know how to make Lucas feel at ease, perhaps with a favourite meal, a kind message or simply a relaxed presence, and Lucas rewards that with loyalty and gentle care. Shared pleasures come easily: you probably agree on what makes an evening, a room or a weekend feel good. Because it is pleasant, it can also become a little sleepy, with neither of you quite noticing when the effort fades. Plan one new shared pleasure together this season, a place, a recipe or a hobby neither of you has tried, so the comfort keeps a little freshness in it.

Lucas's Mercury opposition Sanne's Sun

☿ ☍ ☉ ORB 0.2°

Sun and Mercury: Crossed Wires, Sharper Minds ● FRICTION

Sanne's Sun and Lucas's Mercury sit at an awkward angle, so Lucas's way of thinking and talking can rub against Sanne's sense of self. Lucas may question or analyse what Sanne considers simply part of who they are, and Sanne may hear criticism where Lucas meant curiosity. Misunderstandings can pile up over small things like timing, tone or phrasing. Yet this contact also keeps you both mentally honest, and a good debate is part of its appeal. Agree on one rule for tricky conversations: Lucas asks before offering analysis, and Sanne assumes good intent before defending.

Lucas's Mercury conjunction Sanne's Moon

☿ ☌ ☽ ORB 1.5°

Moon and Mercury: Feelings Find Words ● FUSION

Sanne's Moon sits on Lucas's Mercury, so feelings and words meet head-on between you. Lucas often has a knack for naming what Sanne is feeling before Sanne has quite worked it out, and Sanne gives Lucas's thoughts an emotional weight that makes them feel heard. Conversations can wander from the practical to the personal in a single breath. The risk is over-analysis: Sanne may sometimes want simple sympathy and receive a neat explanation instead, while Lucas can feel that a passing remark was taken too much to heart. Before replying to something emotional, Lucas can ask "do you want ideas or just an ear?", and Sanne can answer honestly.

Lucas's Venus sextile Sanne's Saturn

♀ ⚹ ♄ ORB 0.5°

Venus and Saturn: Care That Keeps Its Shape ● FLOW

Lucas's Venus and Sanne's Saturn work together in a quietly supportive way. Sanne offers Lucas reliability, patience and a sense that their affection is safe in steady hands; Lucas softens Sanne's seriousness and reminds them that enjoyment matters too. Promises made between you tend to be kept, and that builds trust without much fuss.

Steadiness can drift into routine if neither of you shakes it up, and comfort can slowly turn into a list of duties. Keep one small ritual that exists only for fun. Choose something you both enjoy, from a weekly walk to a shared playlist, and protect it as carefully as you would any other commitment.

Lucas's Venus opposition Sanne's Jupiter

♀ ☍ ♃ ORB 1.1°

Venus and Jupiter: Too Much of a Good Thing ● FRICTION

Lucas's Venus and Sanne's Jupiter meet at a stretching angle. There is plenty of warmth here, yet the two of you may disagree about how much is enough: Sanne can push for bigger, louder, more, while Lucas wants pleasure that feels right in scale and tone. Sanne's enthusiasm may sometimes overwhelm Lucas, and Lucas's restraint can read to Sanne as a lack of excitement.

Underneath, both of you want life to feel good; you simply measure it differently. Try planning one shared experience where Lucas sets the setting and atmosphere and Sanne adds a single bold extra, then compare how it felt to each of you afterwards.

Lucas's Saturn opposition Sanne's Mars

♄ ☍ ♂ ORB 0.9°

Mars and Saturn: Friction and Grit ● FRICTION

Sanne's Mars and Lucas's Saturn meet at an awkward angle. Sanne may experience Lucas as restrictive, critical or slow to say yes, while Lucas may see Sanne as reckless, pushy or careless about consequences. Frustration can build quietly, especially if Sanne feels held back and Lucas feels responsible for tidying up afterwards.

This tension is not a sign that something is wrong; it is a lesson in pacing. Lucas can learn to trust momentum, and Sanne can learn that a pause is not a refusal. Many strong working partnerships carry exactly this mix. Try agreeing deadlines together in advance, so that urgency and caution are negotiated calmly rather than in the heat of the moment.

Lucas's Moon square Sanne's Jupiter

☽ □ ♃ ORB 1.9°

Moon and Jupiter: Too Much or Not Enough ● FRICTION

Sanne's big-picture optimism and Lucas's emotional needs do not always line up. Sanne may offer reassurance, advice or grand plans when Lucas simply wants to be understood, and Lucas can feel their feelings are being talked over. Equally, Sanne may sense that Lucas's caution is dampening their enthusiasm. There can be swings between overindulgence and frustration, with promises made generously and kept unevenly. The gift in the tension is perspective: Sanne widens Lucas's horizon, and Lucas gives Sanne's hopes a heart. When Lucas shares a feeling, Sanne can try simply saying "that makes sense" before adding anything, and Lucas can say when they are ready for ideas.

Lucas's Ascendant sextile Sanne's Mercury

AC ⚹ ☿ ORB 1.3°

Mercury and Ascendant: Easy to Read ● FLOW

Sanne's Mercury and Lucas's Ascendant form a friendly, open link. Sanne tends to understand Lucas's way of presenting themselves and can put into words what makes Lucas who they are, while Lucas's manner invites Sanne to speak freely. Social situations often go smoothly with you two together, since you read the room in compatible ways and can back each other up in conversation.

Sanne can also be a useful sounding board when Lucas is deciding how to come across, whether for an interview, a first meeting or a change of style. Just remember that feeling easy to read is not the same as being fully known. Ask each other about something you assume rather than know.

☌ Lucas's Ascendant conjunction Sanne's Jupiter

AC ☌ ♃ ORB 1.0°

Jupiter and Rising: A Generous First Impression ● FUSION

Sanne's Jupiter sits on Lucas's Ascendant, so Sanne tends to see Lucas in the best possible light from the very start. Lucas may feel more confident, more welcome and somehow larger in Sanne's company, as if the way they show up in the world is being warmly approved. This is often a contact of encouragement, laughter and easy introductions to new people or places.

The risk is praise without detail. Sanne may compliment so freely that Lucas wonders what is actually being seen, and Lucas may lean on the glow rather than grow from it. Make the encouragement specific: Sanne, tell Lucas one precise thing you admire about how they handle people, and ask Lucas what they would like to try with that confidence.

△ Lucas's Venus trine Sanne's Mercury

♀ △ ☿ ORB 3.4°

Mercury and Venus: A Gift for Kind Words ● FLOW

There is a graceful link between Sanne's mind and Lucas's sense of what is lovely and worth valuing. Sanne tends to notice what Lucas appreciates and can describe it in ways that make Lucas feel understood, while Lucas brings tact and goodwill to Sanne's ideas. Whether you are friends, partners or colleagues, you are likely to be good at the social side of life together: hosting, choosing gifts, smoothing over awkward moments for others.

Ease like this can drift into a politeness that skips the real topics. Make a habit of telling each other one specific thing you appreciated this week, and one thing you would like more of.

△ Lucas's Saturn trine Sanne's Sun

♄ △ ☉ ORB 4.1°

Sun and Saturn: Steady Ground ● FLOW

Sanne's Sun and Lucas's Saturn work well together, which gives this bond a reliable backbone. Lucas helps Sanne turn ideas into something real, offering patience, structure and honest feedback, and Sanne brings energy and confidence that keep Lucas from becoming too cautious. You likely trust each other's word, and plans made together tend to happen. The subtle risk is that the bond grows sensible to the point of dull, and reliability is a gift worth decorating. Alongside your shared responsibilities, schedule something spontaneous and slightly impractical, and let Sanne choose it.

HOUSE OVERLAYS

VII

Where You Land in Each Other's Lives

Houses divide a chart into twelve areas of life. When one person's planet falls in the other's house, it tends to light up that area whenever you are together.

Lucas's planets in Sanne's houses

☉ Sun in the 8th house

INTIMACY AND TRUST

Trust That Runs Deep

This overlay rarely stays on the surface. Lucas's Sun lights up Sanne's house of intimacy, trust and shared depth, so Lucas can draw out what Sanne usually keeps guarded. Conversations may turn honest quickly, and Sanne may feel profoundly seen. That intensity is valuable, but it can also feel exposing, and questions of control or who shares what can arise. Go at Sanne's pace. Agree on one topic each of you would like to understand more deeply about the other, and set aside an unhurried evening to talk it through.

☽ Moon in the 6th house

ROUTINES AND CARE

Care in Practical Ways

Lucas's Moon lands in Sanne's house of routines and daily care, so Lucas shows feeling through practical help: reminders, small favours, attention to how Sanne is coping. Sanne may find everyday life runs more smoothly when Lucas is around. The risk is that care becomes fussing, or that Lucas feels taken for granted for all the unseen effort. Name it out loud. Once a week, Sanne could thank Lucas for one specific kindness, and Lucas could say plainly what support would help them in return.

☿ Mercury in the 7th house

PARTNERSHIP

Thinking as a Pair

Lucas's Mercury falls in Sanne's house of one-to-one partnership, which makes conversation central to your connection. Sanne may experience Lucas as a natural sounding board, and you tend to negotiate, plan and decide well together. Whether in love, friendship or work, dialogue is your shared tool. The risk is that discussions become debates, or that Lucas's viewpoint tilts every compromise. Practise listening fully. In your next disagreement, have each of you summarise the other's position before arguing your own.

♀ Venus in the 9th house

BELIEFS AND ADVENTURE

Love of Wider Horizons

Lucas's Venus in Sanne's 9th house links affection with discovery. Lucas enjoys Sanne's beliefs, sense of humour and appetite for ideas, and Sanne feels their world getting bigger around Lucas: new places, books, cultures and conversations about what life means. Travel together can be a highlight. The small risk is idealising each other as an adventure, so the everyday version disappoints a little. Plan a trip, big or tiny, to somewhere neither of you knows, and afterwards share what each of you learned about the other.

♂ Mars in the 5th house

PLAY AND ROMANCE

Bold, Competitive Fun

Lucas's Mars in Sanne's 5th house turns up the heat on play, creativity and attraction. Lucas dares Sanne to take risks, try new hobbies and express themselves more boldly, and games between you can get gleefully competitive. In romance this often reads as chemistry; in friendship or creative partnerships, as a push to make things and show them. The risk is that rivalry spoils the fun, or that Sanne feels pressured to perform on demand. Choose one creative challenge to tackle as a team rather than against each other.

♃ Jupiter in the 9th house

BELIEFS AND ADVENTURE

Explorers Together

With Lucas's Jupiter in Sanne's 9th house, Jupiter is right at home, and Lucas widens Sanne's horizons in every sense. Travel, study, philosophy and big questions come alive between you, and Lucas often acts as a teacher or guide for Sanne's beliefs. There is a shared hunger for meaning. The small risk is preaching to each other, or living in big ideas instead of daily life. Pick one subject you both want to explore and dig into it together, ending with something practical you can use.

♄ Saturn in the 5th house

PLAY AND ROMANCE

Serious About Joy

With Lucas's Saturn in Sanne's 5th house, Lucas brings commitment and caution to Sanne's play, creativity and romance. Lucas may help Sanne turn a hobby into real skill, or treat affection with welcome seriousness. But spontaneity can suffer, and Sanne might feel that Lucas rains on their fun or judges their creative efforts. This contact rewards patience: joy that is cultivated rather than simply grabbed. Plan one purely silly outing where Lucas agrees to follow Sanne's lead completely, with no critique afterwards.

Sanne's planets in Lucas's houses

☉ Sun in the 10th house

AMBITION AND PUBLIC LIFE

A Public Champion

Sanne's Sun lands in Lucas's house of career, ambition and public life, which can make Sanne a strong backer of Lucas's goals. Sanne may see Lucas's potential clearly and encourage Lucas to aim higher or step into a more visible role. Other people may also notice the two of you as a pair in shared settings. The edge is pressure: Sanne's expectations can start to feel like a standard Lucas must meet. Ask Lucas what success honestly looks like to them, and let Sanne simply listen without improving the plan.

☽ Moon in the 4th house

HOME AND ROOTS

A Sense of Home

This is one of the cosiest overlays. Sanne's Moon sits in Lucas's house of home and roots, so Sanne can feel like family to Lucas, and Lucas's space may become a place Sanne naturally settles into. There is often a strong instinct to look after each other. The small risk is old family patterns slipping in unnoticed, with one of you playing parent or child without meaning to. Talk about one tradition from each of your childhoods you would like to keep, and one you would rather leave behind.

☿ Mercury in the 10th house

AMBITION AND PUBLIC LIFE

Strategic Advice

Sanne's Mercury falls in Lucas's house of career and public life, so Sanne often has useful ideas about Lucas's goals, reputation and direction. Sanne can be a sharp adviser or connector, helping Lucas communicate their ambitions more clearly. Talks about plans come naturally. The edge is that Sanne's advice can feel like pressure, or that every chat drifts into work. Keep some talk light. Have Lucas describe a long-term goal, and let Sanne offer one idea, only after asking whether Lucas wants input.

♀ Venus in the 11th house

FRIENDSHIP AND HOPES

Friendship First

With Sanne's Venus in Lucas's 11th house, the bond has a strong friendship flavour whatever else it becomes. Sanne slots easily into Lucas's social circle and warmly supports their hopes for the future, and the two of you may meet through groups, causes or mutual friends. There is a sense of being on the same team. The small risk is that the relationship stays sociable and never gets one-to-one depth. Make time for a plan with just the two of you, and talk about one hope you each hold for the next year.

♂ Mars in the 8th house

INTIMACY AND TRUST

Intensity and Depth

Sanne's Mars in Lucas's 8th house stirs strong feelings around trust, control and what is shared. Sanne's energy reaches into Lucas's deeper, more guarded places, which can create powerful attraction or a gripping sense of purpose together. It can also trigger power struggles, jealousy or a push for Lucas to reveal more than they are ready to. This contact asks for honesty about who decides what. Talk openly about one area where each of you wants more say, and one where you are glad to hand over the reins.

♃ Jupiter in the 1st house

SELF AND APPEARANCE

A Bigger Sense of Self

Sanne's Jupiter in Lucas's 1st house tends to make Lucas feel larger than life. Sanne sees Lucas's potential, encourages their confidence and laughs at their jokes, and Lucas often feels bolder and more buoyant in Sanne's company. This is a generous, upbeat contact for any pair. The only risk is overdoing it: too much praise can inflate, and Lucas may lean on Sanne's optimism rather than building their own. Let Sanne encourage one specific new step Lucas has been hesitant to take, then celebrate it together.

♄ Saturn in the 4th house

HOME AND ROOTS

Foundations and Duty

Sanne's Saturn in Lucas's 4th house brings responsibility into Lucas's home and family life. Sanne can help build solid foundations: a well-run household, stable routines, a sense that things will hold when life gets busy. Yet Lucas may also feel that Sanne brings a heaviness to their private space, or echoes old family expectations they hoped to leave behind. Warmth matters here. Create one shared home ritual that is purely for comfort, with no chores attached, and protect it as carefully as the responsibilities.

THE SHAPE OF IT

IX What You Build

Across both charts together you lean toward water and a fixed pace. That combined temperament says something about what the two of you are naturally good at making together.

Building with Water: A Place to Feel Safe

With water strongest across both charts, what you build best is emotional: a sense of safety, belonging and care. You are good at creating spaces where people can be themselves, whether that is a home, a close friendship, a creative project with heart, or a circle of trust. You read each other well and tend to sense what is needed before it is asked.

The risk is that so much feeling blurs boundaries, and you may absorb each other's moods or avoid hard conversations to keep the peace. Water also needs a vessel. Give what you build a shape: shared rituals, clear agreements, a regular time to talk honestly. Try choosing one small ritual, a weekly walk or meal, that belongs only to the two of you, and protect it.

Building with Fixed: Built to Endure

With fixed energy strongest across both charts, your shared strength is persistence. You are good at seeing things through, staying loyal and building something that endures: a long friendship, a well-loved home, a project nurtured over years. Once you commit, you rarely let go, and your steadiness can be a quiet source of security for both of you and for others.

The risk is rigidity. Fixed energy can cling to the way things are long after they have stopped serving you, and disagreements can turn into standoffs where neither moves. Build in a habit of renewal. Once a year, sit down and review what you are maintaining together, keep what still matters, and agree to let go of at least one thing, so there is space for something new to grow.

BRINGING IT TOGETHER

X

Two Skies, One Conversation

Every pair of charts holds both ease and friction. Between you there are 17 flowing contacts and 9 challenging ones, with 2 places where your planets sit side by side. Together you lean toward water, which gives your shared space its basic temperature. The flowing contacts are the ground you can stand on when life gets busy; the challenging ones are where each of you learns something you would not have learned alone.

A good way to use this report is to pick one contact from each list, read it aloud, and ask each other: does this match what we actually live? Where it does, you have a shared language for it. Where it does not, your own experience wins. A question to close with: what is one thing the other person brings into your life that you would miss if it were gone, and have you told them?

ABOUT THIS REPORT

How Two Skies Works

The method

Both charts are calculated from the birth date, time and place, using the tropical zodiac and Placidus houses (Whole Sign houses at very high latitudes). Every planet and the Rising sign in one chart is then compared with every planet and the Rising sign in the other. A contact counts when the angle between them is within a few degrees of a conjunction (0°), sextile (60°), square (90°), trine (120°) or opposition (180°). Synastry orbs are slightly tighter than for a single chart: 6° for conjunctions and oppositions, 5° for squares and trines, 3° for sextiles, with one extra degree when the Sun or Moon is involved.

The key contacts are chosen by closeness and by how personal the planets are. House overlays place one person's planets in the other's houses, which needs the birth time of the person whose houses are used.

No compatibility score

You will not find a percentage in these pages. Real relationships are made of choices, history and care, none of which appears in a birth chart, and a number would pretend to a precision astrology does not have. The counts of flowing and challenging contacts describe texture, not quality.

Reading it well

Use this report as a shared vocabulary. Read a section together and ask whether it matches your experience; where it does not, trust what you know about each other. It works for partners, friends, siblings and colleagues alike.
